BIDDINGER MUST FACE ACCUSERS

Whitman Signs Extradition Papers—Detective Surrenders.

OUT ON $10,000 BAIL:
CALLS CHARGES JOKE

O'Farrell Sees Nothing for His Man to Fear—Well Denies Complaints Are Outlawed.

Extradition papers for Guy Biddinger, the detective who was arrested yesterday at the Holland House to answer fifty-one complaints in Chicago, were signed at 7 o'clock last night by Governor Whitman.Representatives of Governor Dunn of Illinois reached Albany with the papers at noon. Their arrival had been announced by a telegraph appeal from Biddinger's lawyers in this city requesting that Governor Whitman delay in signing the papers until a hearing had been held. To this the Governor agreed, but later amended the decision.
Biddinger voluntarily surrendered to the New York authorities. He had been under surveillance since warrants were issued for him three days ago in Chicago, but headquarters here had been waiting for an official survey of the extradition papers."Feels Funny To Be Pinched." Early yesterday morning Val O'Farrell, head of the private detective bureau with which Biddinger is associated, telephoned Inspector Faurot that Biddinger would be "happy to meet representatives of the Police Department at the Holland House." Acting Captain Dovers, of the 1st Branch Bureau, kept the tyrant and hurried Biddinger to the Criminal Courts Building for arraignment.As Biddinger walked away from Judge Crane's chamber in the Criminal Courts Building under $10,000 bail he turned to a friend and gaily remarked:
"It seems funny to be pinched." Assistant District Attorney Embree at the arraignment demanded bail of $20,000, but this sum was cut in half to $10,000. Biddinger's attorney, J. Goldsmith, Biddinger's attorney, bail for the fifty-one charges made against the detective in Illinois aggregated more than $80,000.The charges against Biddinger are a joke, a colossal joke," Val O'Farrell said last evening. "Some of the alleged offenses took place ten or twelve years ago. Biddinger will gladly go back to Chicago to refute the accusations. He has absolutely nothing to fear."Well Awaits Statement.
A Leo Well, the Pittsburgh attorney and reformer whose investigations in Chicago resulted in the fifty-one complaints against Biddinger, took up temporary headquarters at the Billings Hotel yesterday."I will have nothing to say until Biddinger issues a statement," Mr.
Well said last night. "I have no doubt that Biddinger will want open to accuse me of inciting him to arrest in Chicago. When he does issue such a statement I want to reply that his accusations are true—and want to show why they are."None of the charges made against Biddinger is clear and concise on that point. One would hardly believe that the State's Attorney in Cook County—who holds the job because he knows his business—would initiate a move to prosecute a man on charges that were outlawed.

Prince of Crooks Eager to Testify Against Biddinger

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.)
Chicago, April 15.—Barney Bertische, confessed prince of American crooks, who was captured after a revolver raid in downtown Chicago two years ago, talked to-day on the Guy Biddinger case."Don't worry," said Bertische. "I know Biddinger. Oh, very, very well.
What I'm going to tell about that fellow is a caution. I'll be the star witness against him."As soon as Bertische finished his testimony here, which led to the arrest of Captain Halpin, of the Detective Bureau, on a charge of grafting, he went to New York. There he was employed to hunt down evidence against Biddinger. It is said both men, in the lookout for each other, carried guns in New York.Biddinger met on Broadway.
Bertische told a friend, "that Rosenthal-Berger shooting might have been elaborated. I heard that he told his friends he would kill me on sight." It was learned to-day that attorneys for a number of wealthy Chicago clients have been active in preparing the charges against Biddinger. It is said these attorneys represent men who have paid large sums to certain agents for silence about past indiscretions.GOUPIL & CO. PARIS
